

Mark may spend more than a month moving into a summer home. James may attempt to tame jumping monkeys tomorrow morning. Be quick to name the men and women who manage this company. Max meant to move most of my film into an enormous freezer. Sign the contract now to send us one dozen engines a month. Ann handed her aunt a quantity of honey instead of bonbons. Paint the bench green and then varnish it to make it shine. Neil examined the thin links and then just unfastened them. Otto noticed some motor oil oozing from those wooden boxes. You outdid yourself to prove your point about those radios. Boris quoted you our lowest dollar cost on most iron coils. Joseph should throw out over forty of those broken records. My nephew had expected to purchase pumpkin pies for supper. Paula dropped plenty of pepper and other spices in the pot. Joseph was puzzled by purple pebbles placed in the pottery. Peggy should equip five patients with special paper plates.